

Overseas Sales Condition-Limit of Liability on quality and lead time (English Version)

We are responsible for quality of products sold by us and will not knowingly send out any poor quality products, except that the customers and we mutually agree on such quality. We are obliged to replace any bad products delivered to customers overseas.

But we will not make replacement shipments or compensation if the customer decides transportation and packages are damaged in transit or damage are caused by transportation provider, no matter who pays for such transportation service.

We also will not make replacement shipments or compensation in a situation that same products are continuously shipped and quality issues are reported 60 days after first shipment arrival. In such situation only first shipment will be compensated. All following shipments will be deemed acceptable by the customer. Customer should be a participating party in first trial production after sample approval and effectively communicate any quality related issues before asking for further production. Customers' silence on quality of first shipment will be regarded as approval on received quality and following order production.

Replacement shipping method will be decided by us if the seller pays for transportation. The customer may ask for air shipment or courier service only when the original orders express urgency and that orders are confirmed by us and the received goods quality issues were first reported within 7 work days upon goods arrival.

We encourage customers to advance order plans and to grant us longer time for production. We don't accept liability for unusually short lead time even such orders are stamped by us. Our production lead time for castings is 30 days to 65 days. It depends on the casting size, machining requests, difficulty levels and also our production capacity during that time. The lead time may be communicated at the time of order. And customers should consider another 7 days in shipping arrangement. When the customer asks for shorter lead time we will not accept liability for agreeing to try to shorten that lead time. We don't accept any urgent shipment requests on first time production order and will not accept any related liability.

Any MUST ON TIME orders must be written clearly on order paper and must be positively confirmed by us. Any trying to catch times will not lead to our responsibility for delay. For once-a-year orders, we have a flexibility of 30+/- days. For seasonal orders, we have a 15+/- days flexibility.

We should alert customers when delay happens. If delay is longer than 45 days, customers may cancel related orders. Upon request any product delayed for 45+ days may enjoy free sea shipment.

Material Composition

Order specified materials will replace material on drawing specification. For example, when order says 304 and drawings says 316, we use 304 in production. If there is no indication on order or drawing, we use the same material as in last production or in sample production.

Dimensions

Mutually agreed changes and inspection method will replace relevant drawing dimensions and inspection requests.
